ROMANIA – AN ENCYCLOPEDIC SURVEY

OFFICIAL NAME. ROMÂNIA (ROMANIA in English, ROUMANIE in French, RUMÄNIEN in German). This name was adopted in 1862, after the foundation of the nation-state through the union of the Romanian principalities of Wallachia and Moldavia in 1859. Abbreviation: RU.

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION. State situated in SE Central Europe, north of the Balkan Peninsula. Romania lies within and outside the arch of the Carpathian Mountains, on the lower Danube, bordering on the Black Sea. With its position between 43°37'07" and 48°15'06" latitude north and 20°15'44" and 29°41'24" longitude east, Romania's territory is located midway between the North Pole and the Equator and also between the Atlantic Ocean and the Ural Mountains (Europe's eastern and western limits).

NEIGHBOURS. Romania borders on five states: the Republic of Moldova (681.3 km.) in the northeast and east, Ukraine (649.4 km.) in the north and east, Bulgaria (631.3 km.) in the south, Yugoslavia (546.4 km.) in the southwest and Hungary (448.0 km.) in the west. The sixth neighbour is the Black Sea (193.5 km.).

AREA. 238,391 sq. km. (comparable to Britain's), Romania ranking 13th in Europe and 80th in the world in this respect. Romania has an oval shape, measuring 735 km. from west to east and 530 km. from north to south.

NATIONAL FLAG (proportion 3/2). Three equal vertical stripes of red, yellow and blue (by the mast).

NATIONAL COAT OF ARMS (since 1992). A blue shield with an eagle holding a cross in its beak and a sword and a scepter in its talons. The eagle holds against its chest the symbols of the historical provinces of Wallachia, Moldavia, Transylvania, the Banat, Oltenia and Dobrudja.

STATE ANTHEM (since 1990). Awake, Ye, Romanian, with lyrics by Andrei Mureşanu (1816-1863) and music by Anton Pann (1796-1854). It used to be a march of the revolutionaries of 1848.

LEGAL HOLIDAYS. January 1 and 2 (New Year), Easter Monday, May Day, December 1 (the national day), December 25 and 26 (Christmas).

https://biblioteca-digitala.ro

NATIONAL DAY (since 1990). December 1, the anniversary of the Great Assembly held at Alba Iulia in 1918, which decided on Transylvania's union with Romania, a moment that enshrined the union of all Romanians in a single state.

STANDARD TIME. East European zone time (GMT+2 hours). Daylight saving time (GMT+3 hours) applies from March to October.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES. Metric system in force since 1866.

CURRENCY (since 1867). The leu (plural lei) – ROL, with the ban (plural bani) as subdivision. Internal convertibility of the national currency was introduced in 1991. Any Romanian resident can buy and own foreign currency. On October 17, 2002, the exchange rate was as follows: 1 US$=33,205 lei; 1 Euro=32.606 lei; 1 £=51,531 lei; 100 Yen=26,742 lei.

PHYSICAL FEATURES. The arch-shaped Carpathian Mountains (900 km. over Romania's territory) occupy 31% of the total area, the hills and plateaus within and outside the Carpathian arch hold 36%, while the plains, lying mostly in the south and west of the country, account for 33%. The highest peak is Moldoveanu (2,544 m.) in the Făgăraş range of the Southern Carpathians. 21 peaks of the Romanian Carpathians exceed 2,000 m.

RIVERS AND LAKES. Most of the rivers spring from the Carpathian Mountains and flow into the Danube directly or through tributaries. The Danube flows on Romanian territory along 1,075 km. and empties into the Black Sea through a delta covering 5,050 sq.km. (4,340 sq.km. on the Romanian territory). The main rivers have a length ranging between 750 and 550 km.: Mureş, Prut, Olt, and Siret. Of the about 3,500 lakes in Romania, only 300 have an area in excess of 1 sq.km. The main natural lakes are Razim and Sinoe, close to the Black Sea. Those on the Danube, upstream of the Iron Gates II and Iron Gates I hydropower stations, are the most important man-made lakes.

CLIMATE. Temperate-continental with four clear-cut seasons. In winter the average temperature is -3°C, while in summer the temperature averages 22-24°C. The average annual rainfall is ca. 640 mm. The last few years were marked by extreme meteorological phenomena, heavy rains, floods as well as spells of extremely hot weather (38°-40°C) and drought.

AREA DISTRIBUTION. Arable area (39.3%), forests (27%), pastures and hayfields (20.7%), vineyards and orchards (2.2%), rivers and lakes (3.6%), buildings, roads and railways (4.2%), other areas (2.6%).

NATURE RESERVES. Romania has 846 protected areas, totaling 1,246,000 hectares (6.1% of the total area). Of these, three are biosphere reserves (the Danube Delta, the Retezat Massif and Pietrosul Rodnei), 12 are national parks and 11 natural parks

POPULATION. According to the census of March 18, 2002, Romania has a population of 21,698,181 (ranked 10th in Europe). 52.7% of the population lived in the urban environment and 47.3% in rural areas. Women accounted for 51.2% of the total figure, with 1,051 females per 1,000 males. Population density: 91.0 inhabitants per sq.km. (ranked 26th in Europe and 74th in the world). The population has declined by about one million or 4.2% since the 1992 census. Birthrate (2001), 9.8‰, death rate 11.6‰, natural growth -1.8‰. There are 5.8 marriages and 1.39 divorces per thousand population.

ETHNIC STRUCTURE. At the 2002 census, 89.5% (19,409,400) declared to be Romanian, and 10.5% (2, 288,781) declared another ethnic origin than the Romanian one. There were 1,434,377 Hungarians (6.6%), 535,250 Gypsies (2.5%), 60,088 Germans (0.3%), 61,353 Ruthenian-Ukrainians (0.3%), 36,397 Lippovan-Russians (0.2%), 32,596 Turks (0,2%), 24,137 Tartars (0.1%), 22,518 Serbs (0.1%), 17,199 Slovaks (0.1%), 8,092 Bulgarians, 6,786 Croats, 6,513 Greeks, 5,870 Jews, 3,938 Czechs, 3,671 Poles, 3,331 Italians, 1,780 Armenians, and 18,950 other ethnics (0.1%). 19,741,356 persons (91.0% of total) declared Romanian was their mother tongue. 1,956,825 persons (9%) declared another maternal language than Romanian. The number of persons declined for the following ethnicities: Hungarian (by 190,582), German (by 59,374), Serbian (by 6,890), Ukrainian (by 4,411), Jewish (by 3,085).

RELIGION. The 2002 census indicated the following religious structure: 18,806,428 Eastern Orthodox (86.7%), and 2,868,653 persons belonging to other confessions. Only 23,100 persons declared no religion or atheists. The other confessions include: 1,028,401 Roman-Catholic (4.76%), 698,550 Reformed (3.2%), 330,486 Pentecostal (1.5%), 195,481 Greek-Catholic (0.9%), 97,041 Seventh-Day Adventist (0.4%), 66,846 Unitarian (0.3%), 67,566 Muslim (0.3%), 46,092 Christian according to Gospel (0.2%), 39,485 Old Rite Christian (0.2%), 26,194 Synodo-Presbyterian Evangelical (0.1%), 11,203 Augustan Evangelical (0.1%), 6,179 Mosaic.

OFFICIAL LANGUAGE. Romanian. The easternmost representative of the Romance languages, Romanian is a continuation of the Latin spoken in ancient times in Dacia and Moesia, provinces of the Roman Empire. A 31-letter Latin alphabet is in use. Ethnic minorities can use their language in school, administration, the judiciary, and so on. Hungarian is spoken by the largest ethnic minority. English, French, and German are the most widely used foreign languages.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISIONS. Under art. 3 of the Constitution, the territory of Romania is administratively organized by rural communes, towns and counties. The 41 counties feature 265 towns (93 of which are municipalities) and 2,686 communes (with 13,092 villages). The capital city, Bucharest, has the status of a county. A county has an average area of 5,800 sq. km. and an average population of 500,000.

CAPITAL CITY. Bucharest, situated in the south of the country, at 60-90 m. elevation, has a population of 1,921,751 and an area of 228 sq. km. In 1459 it became the princely seat of ruler Vlad Ţepeş, in the 17th-19th centuries it was the capital of the principality of Wallachia, and since 1862 it has been the capital of Romania.

TOWNS AND CITIES. There are 265 towns, of which 24 have over 100,000 inhabitants, 12 have over 200,000 inhabitants, while only eight have over 300,000. The last group includes the capital and the following cities: Iaşi (346,000), Constanţa (337,000), Timişoara (330,000) Cluj-Napoca (329,000), Galaţi (326,000), Craiova (312,000) and Braşov (309,000).

AIRPORTS. The capital city has two airports: Bucharest-Otopeni for international traffic and Bucharest-Băneasa for domestic and international traffic. Another 15 cities have airports; Constanţa, Timişoara, Arad, Sibiu and Suceava also handle international traffic.

PORTS. Constanţa is the biggest port in the whole Black Sea area. Other seaports are Sulina, Midia and Mangalia. The main ports on the Danube are Orşova, Drobeta-Turnu Severin, Giurgiu, Călăraşi and Cernavodă. Three ports, Brăila, Galaţi and Tulcea, are both river and sea ports.

HISTORY. Like the other Latin peoples of Europe, the Romanian people was born in the 1st millennium AD and has lived uninterruptedly in the same territory where its ancestors, the Dacians (Indo-Europeans belonging to the large family of the Thracians), had lived since the 1st millennium BC. Today the Romanians are the only descendants of Eastern Latinity. In

Romania and the new European geopolitical context

the Middle Ages, the Romanians lived in three different but neighbouring principalities: Wallachia, Moldavia and Transylvania. The nation-state was founded in 1859, when Wallachia and Moldavia united, and the state proclaimed its full independence from the Ottoman Porte in 1877. In 1918, at the end of World War I, the other territories inhabited by Romanians – Bessarabia, Bukovina and Transylvania – united with Romania. After World War II, Romania, like other countries in Central and Eastern Europe, was encompassed in the sphere of influence of the Soviet Union. The popular revolution of December 1989 overthrew the dictatorship of Nicolae Ceauşescu (1965-1989) and the communist regime, and restored democracy based on a multi-party system, paving the way for the market economy. Romania's integration into the European and Euro-Atlantic structures, the European Union and NATO, is a goal shared by all political forces and also the main goal of post-totalitarian Romania's foreign policy. In a zone of Europe troubled by interethnic crises and conflicts, Romania has emerged in the last decade as an element of equilibrium, stability and cooperation. On February 15, 2000, in Brussels, Romania began the negotiations with a view to joining the European Union.

GOVERNMENT. Under the 1991 Constitution, Romania is a parliamentary Republic. Legislative power is vested in the bicameral Parliament comprising the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate, with 345 and 140 seats respectively in the current legislature. The members of Parliament are elected by universal and direct suffrage for a term of four years. Executive power is vested in the Government, headed by the Prime Minister appointed by the President. Members of the Government are appointed by the Prime Minister and approved by the Parliament. The Government is responsible to the Parliament. The Head of the State is the President, who is also Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces. He is elected by universal and direct suffrage for at most two four-year terms. Head of State: Ion Iliescu, elected on December 10, 2000. Prime Minister: Adrian Năstase (the new leader of the Social Democratic Party), since December 28, 2000.

POLITICAL LIFE. December 1989 spelled the disappearance of the single party and the return to the multi-party system which Romania had experienced between 1866 and 1948. The parliamentary and presidential elections of 1990, 1992, 1996 and 2000 illustrated the functioning of the new democracy and the principle of alternance in power. The Party of Social Democracy in Romania (PDSR), a social-democratic party (created in 1992 following the breakup of the National Salvation Front which had led the country after the removal of the communist dictatorship), won the 1992 election and formed the government until 1996. After the 1996 elections, though it remained the main party in Parliament, it became an opposition party, as until 2000 the country was steered by a center-right coalition cabinet. Only 5 of the nearly 50 parties that ran in the elections of November 2000

crossed the 5% electoral threshold and made it to Parliament. PDSR, which obtained 48% of the seats in the new Parliament, formed a minority government sworn to office on December 28, 2000. In June 2001, PDSR and PSDR merged into the Social Democratic Party.

ARMED FORCES. The active forces total about 100,000 in the army, 10,000 in the navy and 34,000 in the air-force. Military service is compulsory for men over the age of 20 and lasts 12 months, or 6 months in the case of reduced-term conscripts. The duration of alternative military service is 24 months. The President of Romania is the Supreme Commander of the armed forces.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS. Romania has diplomatic relations with 176 states and is a member of the UN and its bodies and specialized agencies. In 1993 this country became a member of the Council of Europe, in 1994 it was the first state in Eastern Europe to sign the Partnership for Peace with NATO and in 1995 it became an associate to the European Union. Accession negotiations with the European Union were initiated in 2000. In 2001 Romania holds the chairmanship of the OSCE.

ECONOMY. Abundant resources, oil, coal, gold, non-ferrous metals, rich forests and fine farmlands favored Romania's economic development before World War II. Beginning 1857, Romania was for 120 years Europe's second biggest producer of crude oil and one of the world's major producers of methane gas. Moreover, soil fertility made Romania one of the big grain exporters in Europe in the first decades of the 20th century. The policy of the communist regime established after WWII, based on forced industrialization, all-embracing state ownership, rigid planning and arbitrary decision-making, impaired the economic development of the country. Following the overthrow of Ceauşescu's dictatorship in 1989, restructuring the economy became a priority, aimed at doing away with centralism, privatizing the state-owned companies and attracting foreign investment. Yet the pace of economic reforms was slower compared to the other former communist states, and that affected Romania's image abroad. Despite the inherent difficulties of the transition, the private sector contributes 67.1% of the GDP; in May 2002 foreign investments rose to 8.3 billion dollars. In 2001 the GDP stood at 1,154,126 billion lei, 5,3% up from 2000. The share of economic sectors in the GDP was, in 2000, the following: industry (32%), agriculture and forestry (16%), services (38%), construction (5%), other sectors (9%). The average monthly rate of inflation in 2001 was of 2.2%. Implementation of the State Budget for 2001: revenue – 148,203.0 billion lei; expenditure – 184,012.1 billion lei; deficit – 35,809 billion lei.

GAINFULLY EMPLOYED POPULATION (August 31, 2002). 4,399,400 of whom 1,808,600 in industry, 518,300 in commerce,

397,000 in education, 315,700 in construction, 237,900 in transport, 114,600 in agriculture, and 149,100 in public administration. There were 815,505 unemployed persons (8.5% of the active population) and 6,404,000 pensioners. The average nominal gross salary in August 2002 stood at 5,469,500 lei, and the net one at 3,898,400 lei.

FOREIGN TRADE (2001). Exports aggregated 11,385.0 million dollars, and imports – 15,551.6 million dollars, with the deficit standing at 4,166.6 million dollars. The main partners: Italy, Germany, France, Britain, Russia, Hungary, Turkey and the USA. 67.8% of the exports went to the European Union. 57,3% of Romania's imports came from the EU.

EDUCATION. The education system run by the state is free and comprises: kindergartens (for children aged 3 to 6), primary schools (1st-4th grades), secondary schools (5th-8th grades), high schools (9th-12th grades). Grades 1st to 8th are compulsory. Vocational education, as well as the training of apprentices and foremen, lasts 1-2 years. Higher education takes 4 to 6 years. In 1990 private educational establishments began to emerge (chiefly in the area of higher education) and university autonomy was introduced. The total number of schools is 24,480 for a school population of 4.5 million persons (20% of the country's population); the teaching staff counts 295,000 persons.

HEALTH CARE. This sector, too, is being radically restructured and adjusted to the facts of the market economy. The health care system includes (total and private-owned): 442 hospitals (3), 253 polyclinics (163), 908 medical dispensaries (all public), 4,698 private medical practices, 3,937 private stomatological practices, 4,267 pharmacies. In the public system there are 7.4 hospital beds per thousand population, and 18.9 physicians and 2.2 dentists per ten thousand population.

THE JUDICIARY. The judicial activity comprises courts, the Public Ministry and the Higher Council of the Magistracy. The courts of law include courtrooms (179 of them), tribunals (41), appellate courts (15) and the Supreme Court of Justice, as well as military courts. In 2000 the courts of law, with 3,500 judges, handled 1.5 million cases, of which 22% penal and 78% civil. The number of persons definitively sentenced was of 75,000, 8% being underage. The crime rate stood at 336 per 100,000 population. 36,500 persons (96% men) were held in custody in penitentiaries and reformatories.

SCIENCE AND CULTURE. The country's highest scientific and cultural forum is the Romanian Academy, set up in 1867. It has 14 sections with 165 members and 90 honorary members from 21 countries. It has three branches in Iaşi, Cluj-Napoca and Timişoara and coordinates 66 research institutions with nearly 2,600 research workers. The privately owned publishing sector (over 3,000 publishing houses) issues annually about 10,200 book titles with a circulation of

ca. 12 million copies. The 13,400 public libraries, with 160 million volumes, have a registered readership in excess of 6 million annually. Romania has 147 theatrical and musical institutions providing 16,000 performances annually for an audience of 5,5 million. Some 10 million persons visit annually the 519 museums. In the last decade, competition from the many TV stations has accounted for a dramatic drop in the number of moviegoers. The about 270 movie theatres were visited by only 4.5 million persons.

MASS MEDIA. Almost all institutions in this sector are privately owned. About 1,930 newspapers and magazines are being published (ca. 170 in the languages of ethnic minorities), 108 of which are central and regional dailies. There are 3.5 million TV subscribers and 3.1 million radio subscribers. With its approx. 3 million cable TV subscribers, Romania ranks among the first countries in Europe.

SPORTS. The prime team sport in Romania is soccer (the undeniable star of the last decade is Gheorghe Hagi), followed by handball, basketball, volleyball and rugby. Tennis, known for such players as Ilie Năstase, or gymnastics, with former world champion Nadia Comăneci, are also popular. In 1999 runner Gabriela Szabo won the status of an absolute star in women's track-and-field at world level. The hierarchy of sports according to the number of Olympic medals won in the 20th century is the following: gymnastics (51 medals, including 16 gold ones), rowing (29 medals, 12 gold), canoe/kayak (31 medals, 9 gold), track and field (26 medals, 9 gold), wrestling (32 medals, 7 gold).

TOURISM. Romania has a remarkable tourism potential, generated by the variegated landscape (from the peaks of the Carpathian Mountains to the sunny coast of the Black Sea), the wealth of ancient Dacian and Roman vestiges and especially the medieval ones, the original and extremely vivid folk culture and, finally, the people's hospitality. The capital city, Bucharest – once called "Little Paris", is one of the biggest cities in the region. The Romanian riviera includes 16 resorts stretching over 50 km. of the Black Sea shoreline. The Danube Delta boasts a landscape and wildlife unique in Europe. Southern Transylvania harbors Romania's most beautiful medieval towns – Sibiu, Sighişoara and Braşov. Ţara Bârsei, deep within the Carpathian arch, is Europe's most compact zone of fortified village churches. The same area is known for the Bran Castle, connected to the legendary Dracula. Northern Moldavia is famous for the 15th-16th century churches whose exterior is covered with paintings and which are UNESCO-protected monuments. The town of Târgu Jiu proudly harbors a complex of monuments in the open – the Endless Column, the Table of Silence and the Gate of the Kiss, all the work of sculptor Constantin Brancusi (born in the nearby village of Hobiţa). In 2001, 4.9 million foreigners visited Romania and 6.4 million Romanians traveled abroad.
